

When we talk about food we talk about everything

This event is the culmination of Coming and Going, a two week programme of events investigating migration and cultural identity. The project has comprised a series of intimate meals in the homes of Liverpoolians from different communities of origin; a publication by Ali Taptik of photographs from 5 port cities; a residency by Radio Grenouille from Marseille, broadcasting across the city and beyond; and the creation of a new band of musicians from Marseille and Liverpool.
